

Ms. Cologna's Class Newsletter

November 28, 2016

- The holiday season is here, and our class has been extremely busy the last few weeks. I am so thankful for the great year we have had this far and am excited to see what 2017 brings! In class we have been using a new positive behavior game called Behavior Bingo. Ask your student to tell you more about it!
- We started using a new math web-based program called ST Math. It is one of my favorite ways to have students practice math concepts. I have attached a page on the back of this newsletter on how to access it at home.
- The last book order for 2016 was sent home today. They offer some great gift ideas for your student! These orders are due back by December 9th, to guarantee delivery before break.

Students of the Week:

Aidan Scoffield
Hawkins Bowerman
Lucy Bridge
Bo Holmdahl
Paityn Parry
Willow Christensen

Skills for October:

Math:

Money, addition and subtraction with regrouping, shapes, measuring

Language Arts:

Key details, compound words, multiple meaning words

Science:

Animal adaptations and external features

Writing:

Opinion writing and informational writing

Upcoming Events:

December 9th: Book orders due
December 23rd: Class "Grinch" party (more information to come)
December 23rd: Holiday Sing Along
December 23rd-January 6th:
Winter Break

→ Please contact me to schedule being a Mystery Reader!
We are in need of Mystery Readers for the month of December

→ Contact info:

Jennifer.cologna@slcschools.org
mscologna.weebly.com